

Hello,

I am writing in response to the opening for a Junior Front End Developer.

I can offer experience converting design mockups into hand-coded, responsive HTML & CSS sites and applications that are optimized for speed. I am experienced using the latest Javascript and frameworks to create a dynamic applications backed up by a powerful PHP and MySQL back end. To learn further details about my technical skills, please see my resume.

With extensive experience assisting clients to set and achieve goals, I have developed excellent communication skills, attentive listening, and a great eye for detail. My coworkers would describe me as a hard-working team player that is easy to get along with.

You may view projects I built using the technologies I described on my portfolio site at www.caseymoths.com. Additionally, you will find my code hosted on Github at <https://github.com/caseyadam>.

I would like to quick mention that although I am currently in San Diego, I am willing to relocate.

Thank you for your consideration! I would welcome the chance to speak with you sometime.

Warm regards,

Casey Moths
